

Michael Saunders

1990-2016. UK economist and (from 1998) head of European economics at Citigroup. Since 2008, also manager of the Citigroup Economics teams in Japan and Australia. Joined Salomon Brothers in 1990, which became part of Citi by merger. Joined as VP, promoted to Director and, from 1996, Managing Director. Occasional expert witness on UK economy for Treasury Select Committee.

1988-90: UK economist at Greenwell Montagu (now part of HSBC). Part of a team covering the UK economy.

1986-88: Research analyst at the Institute for Fiscal Studies, working on the taxation of savings and assets, corporate taxes and oil taxes.

Studied Econometrics at London School of Economics, graduated 1986.