to the Assignees who states, that upon the dishonor of the Bill by the acceptors, the Clerks of the Bank applied to the Bankrupts for the address of Messrs Duff & Browne and of Messrs Knox Agnew & Co. which the latter accordingly furnished by writing on the slip presented by the former "Duff & Browne Liverpool Knox Agnew & Co. Glasgow", and which slip having been returned to them is now in their possession.
That the Notices however which were issued by the Clerks of the Bank were improperly directed to the former firm, at Glasgow, & the latter at Liverpool. — In consequence of which the Notices were not received in due time by the Parties to whom they were addressed, who hold themselves discharged from their liability upon the

the Bill. That as this happened in consequence of the laches of the Bank, they ought not to prove the Bill upon them inasmuch as they have deprived the Estate of the Benefit of the amount which would have been receivable from the Estates of Duff Browne, & Knox & Co., and that it is the intention of the Assignees to apply to the Commissioners to expunge the proof of the Bill in question from the proceedings.
