

Interim list of third-country CSDs that will provide CSD services in the UK using the transitional provisions of the Central Securities Depositories (Amendment) (EU Exit) Regulations 2018 if the UK leaves the EU with no implementation period

The following CSDs have notified the Bank that they intend to use the transitional provisions on or after exit day, if the UK leaves the EU with no implementation period. These CSDs will be able to use the transitional provisions so long as they continue to meet the eligibility criteria. The transitional provisions will enable eligible non-UK CSDs to provide CSD services in the UK until at least six months after HM Treasury has completed an equivalence assessment of its jurisdiction under Article 25(9) of the Central Securities Depositories Regulation.

This is an interim list as of the date above. It is subject to change and will be updated periodically over the coming months. CSDs can, before exit day, continue to notify the Bank of their intention to use the transitional provisions. The final list will be published on the Bank’s website after exit day if the UK leaves the EU with no implementation period.

If you require any further guidance please contact the Bank at CSD-Enquiries@bankofengland.co.uk
