Welcome for the Renomination of the Chairman of the Federal Reserve

Following the renomination of Ben Bernanke as Chairman of the Federal Reserve, Governor of the Bank of England, Mervyn King, said:

"I am delighted to learn of Ben Bernanke's renomination as Chairman of the Federal Reserve. Since he became Chairman, we have worked closely together, in conjunction with other central banks, and I look forward to continuing that relationship.

Ben brings strong leadership to the Federal Reserve at this vital time. It is a long time since we had adjoining offices at MIT. But that experience has stood us in good stead in dealing with the crisis over the past two years."
